

134th Commencement

MAY 2021

Welcome

Dear Temple graduates,

Congratulations!

Today is a day of celebration for you and all those who have supported you in your Temple journey.

I couldn't be more proud of the diverse and driven students who are graduating this spring. Congratulations to all of you, to your families and to our dedicated faculty and academic advisors who had the pleasure of educating and championing you.

If Temple's founder Russell Conwell were alive to see your collective achievements today, he'd be thrilled and amazed. In 1884, he planted the seeds that have grown and matured into one of this nation's great urban research universities.

Now it's your turn to put your own ideas and dreams in motion. Even if you experience hardships or disappointments, remember the motto Conwell left us: Perseverantia Vincit, Perseverance Conquers. We have faith that you will succeed.

Thank you so much for calling Temple your academic home. While I trust you'll go far, remember that you will always be part of the Cherry and White. Plan to come back home often.

Sincerely,

Richard M. Englert
President

College of Science and Technology

MICHAEL L. KLEIN, DEAN AND LAURA H. CARNELL PROFESSOR OF SCIENCE

Honorary Degree Recipient

Madeleine M. Joullié

DOCTOR OF LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

Madeleine M. Joullié, Ph.D., is Class of 1970 Term Chair Professor of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. She was born in Paris, grew up in Rio de Janeiro and came to the United States to earn a bachelor's in chemistry from Simmons College in Boston. She went on to the University of Pennsylvania, earning her master's and doctorate in chemistry in 1950 and 1953 respectively.

Dr. Joullié then joined the faculty at Penn, where she was one of the first female professors to earn tenure in chemistry at an Ivy League school. Her research interests are in the areas of heterocyclic, medicinal and natural products chemistry. Her laboratory has focused on the chemistry of the cyclopeptide alkaloids and didemnid families of natural products, as well as the development of compounds for the visualization of latent fingerprints as a forensic tool in law enforcement.

Dr. Joullié has also held several visiting professorships, including at Cambridge University, Columbia University, the Scripps Research Institute, the University of California, Santa Barbara, and the University of Grenoble, France. She was also a Fulbright Lecturer at the University of Brazil in Rio de Janeiro. She has earned a number of prestigious awards, including the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching, the American Chemical Society's A. C. Cope Senior Scholar Award and the Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences.

In 2015, she received the prestigious John Scott Award, which is presented to leading scientists for contributing to the "comfort, welfare and happiness" of humankind. Past winners include Marie Curie, Thomas Edison, R. Buckminster Fuller, Jonas Salk and Nikola Tesla. Dr. Joullié was honored for her research on the synthesis of natural products, which has led to the creation of antiviral and antibacterial compounds.

Dr. Joullié is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a fellow of the Royal Chemistry Society. She currently serves on the College of Science and Technology's Board of Visitors, which helps to set the future direction of the college. In 2016, she was the keynote speaker at the college's spring graduation ceremony.

Low Klein College of Media and Communication

DAVID BOARDMAN, DEAN

Honorary Degree Recipient

Janet Klein

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

Janet S. Klein is a philanthropist and historic preservationist, carrying on the giving legacy of her late husband, the broadcast pioneer and philanthropist Lew Klein, a professor at Temple University for 67 years. A Philadelphia native, Klein is an alumna of the University of Pennsylvania, a mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, and sits on a collection of boards and committees for historic preservation and education projects.

Among these projects, those focusing on preserving local history have been her most beloved. She is credited with the creation of the Liberty Trail, for which she designed and promoted a 165-mile automobile route of historical attractions, installed road signs and produced and distributed a corresponding map and brochure. She also spearheaded the restoration of Terracina, the first historic home in the Lukens National Historic District of Coatesville, PA, and worked for the National Trust for Historic Preservation advising and assisting 18 historic house museums in the five counties of Southeastern Pennsylvania and Camden County.

Janet and Lew's generosity extended to many areas including health and wellness. In 2014, they made a generous gift to the Abington Health Foundation and established the Klein Awards for Physician and Nurse Innovation, which are presented annually to a distinguished Abington physician and nurse. Thanks to the Kleins' support, award recipients now receive financial assistance that can be directed to an area of the hospital of their choosing.

Janet and Lew were a team in championing local organizations as well as in founding larger projects. For instance, Lew was a board member, and both were longtime supporters of the Philadelphia and the Abington Police Athletic Leagues, a police-led youth development and athletic organization that offers free programs to all children. Janet also supported Lew in his educational philanthropy endeavors, such as co-founding the National Association of Television Program Executives and its educational foundation.

Named to the Low Klein College of Media and Communication Board of Visitors, Klein is also a current member of the Temple University Ambler Campus Board of Visitors. Additionally, Klein served on the Advisory Council of the State Department of Conservations and Natural Resources, as an advisor to Preservation Pennsylvania. She has also served in various capacities with the following organizations or businesses: American Philosophical Society Friends Committee, Woodlands Mansion and Cemetery, Preservation Alliance for Greater Philadelphia, Museum Council of Philadelphia and the Delaware Valley and the United States Third Circuit Court.

Of course, the Klein name is ubiquitous on Temple's campus, from the main performance space of the Temple Performing Arts Center, to the annual Low Klein Awards, to the very name of our college. Without Klein's passion, support and kindness, Temple University would be a very different place indeed.

H. Lewis Klein

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

In 1952, the fledgling television industry was fighting radio for superiority in America's living rooms. After graduating from Cheltenham High School in 1945, and completing an English degree at the University of Pennsylvania, 25-year-old Lew Klein was already making his mark in the new business. He wanted to share his knowledge and excitement for it with other smart, young people, and so that year he began teaching television classes at Temple University — a part-time activity he continued for 67 years.

At Temple and in the TV studio, Klein helped to launch the careers of thousands of mentees, including entertainer Dick Clark, comedians Bob Saget and David Brenner, former NBC News President Steve Capus, Eagles play-by-play announcer Merrill Reese, WPVI President and General Manager Bernie Prazenica and former television news anchor and Temple Professor Amy Caples.

Meanwhile, Klein's own television career soared. He became programming director for the Triangle Group stations and co-founded Gateway Communications, the owner of four CBS television stations. He served as executive producer of landmark programs such as American Bandstand and Romper Room, as well as producing Phillies baseball telecasts for 15 years.

Klein's philanthropy and service extended all over the city. He was a leader in both the Philadelphia and Abington Police Athletic Leagues (PAL). Klein co-founded the National Association of Television Program Executives and its educational foundation. Klein served on the board of directors for the Einstein Medical Center, Moss Rehabilitation, Philadelphia Psychiatric Center and Rodeph Shalom Synagogue. He also spent time as the president of the Corporate Alliance for Drug Education.

Some of Klein's many awards include the Concerned Broadcaster of the Year Award from Alpha Epsilon Rho in 1981, the Broadcast Pioneers of Philadelphia Person of the Year in 1983, the Gold Medal Award from the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters in 1993 and the Distinguished Education Service Award from the Broadcast Education Association in 1996. He also received Philadelphia PAL's 50th Anniversary Award for service to the organization in 1997, among many other honors.

In 2000, to honor their friend and colleague Lew Klein, Gerry and Marguerite Lenfest and Walter and Lenore Annenberg made generous contributions to the university to establish the Lew Klein Alumni in the Media and Excellence in the Media Award. The awards were to celebrate outstanding members of the media whose achievements bring honor to their profession. In March 2017, Klein and his wife Janet made a lead gift to the School of Communications and Theater which the university renamed Klein College of Media and Communication in honor of Klein's career and service to the university.

Klein is survived by his wife, Janet; two children, Ellen and Stephen; granddaughter Anna and her husband John and great-grandchildren, Oscar and Miriam.

Maurice H. Kornberg School of Dentistry

AMID I. ISMAIL, DEAN AND LAURA H. CARNELL PROFESSOR

Honorary Degree Recipient

Robert A. Bagramian, DEN '60

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE, HONORIS CAUSA

Robert A. Bagramian is a respected dental researcher and professor of dentistry at the University of Michigan. He grew up as the son of immigrant Armenian parents who fled to the U.S. and settled in West Philadelphia. He went to Overbrook High School and attended Temple University undergraduate and dental schools while working alongside his father in their shoe repair shop. Recognizing the hard work and sacrifices made by his parents motivated him to give back to those in need. Dr. Bagramian has a strong commitment to recognize and honor his parents who valued his education. This influenced him to think more broadly about the many people for whom there were little opportunities to succeed. He focused on providing health care to larger populations through public health. It is here that he was able to provide care to underserved populations, locally, nationally and globally.

Following graduation from Temple University School of Dentistry, Dr. Bagramian served as captain in the U.S. Army for two years. After this he volunteered to work in Taiwan for three years. In Taiwan, he started the first Western dental residency program in the Changhua Christian Hospital and taught in Chung Shan dental school. Additionally, he made medical and dental trips into the mountains of Taiwan to help isolated villagers receive needed emergency care in Changhua Christian Hospital and established a two-chair dental clinic. The clinic is now a comprehensive 50-chair dental program in one of Taiwan's largest medical centers.

Upon returning from Taiwan, Dr. Bagramian spent one year in Philadelphia as a public health dentist in an inner-city health center while also in private practice at night. He then continued his education at the University of North Carolina, earning his Master of Public Health. While earning his doctorate at the University of Michigan, he began his career in academics. He served as chair of Community Dentistry and established the Community Outreach Program for the University of Michigan School of Dentistry. He later provided leadership to the American University of Armenia as dean of the School of Public Health.

In addition to his years in Taiwan, Dr. Bagramian has worked internationally as a visiting professor and consultant in Singapore, Malaysia, Switzerland and India, providing services and sharing expertise with global medical centers.

The author of over 100 manuscripts, abstracts and book chapters, Bagramian is a reviewer for numerous journals including the American Dental Association, Journal of Dental Research, Caries Research Journal (also known as ORCA), National Institutes for Dental and Craniofacial Research and American Association of Public Health Dentistry and Periodontics. Bagramian has been a member of numerous masters and doctoral committees and received the ADA Award for Outstanding Service to the Public and Profession. It has been public health research and clinical services that have brought him great satisfaction and a sense of purpose that made his parents extremely proud.

A Message from the Temple University Alumni Association

To the Class of 2021,

Congratulations!

We are excited to welcome you into the Temple University Alumni Association (TUAA). As you step out into the world, know that you are not alone. There are over 340,000 Owls worldwide excited to see you take flight. Owls are everywhere.

As you go beyond Broad Street, we encourage you to utilize all the resources and benefits available to you as new graduates, including:

- Owl Network: Temple's Online Professional Networking Platform
- Regional Chapters: 20 Alumni Regional Chapters connect alumni where they live
- Temple University Young Alumni: Programs, events and resources for alumni 30 and under.
- Schools and Colleges: Each school and college has their own Alumni Association
- Special events like Alumni Weekend, Homecoming, Global Days of Service and Temple Toast

Visit alumni.temple.edu to learn more about all the resources, information and engagement opportunities — both in person and online — we offer to connect and serve our alumni and university community. We wish you the very best of luck as you begin this exciting phase of your Temple journey.

Go Owls!
